

QUEST

Sunday, May 18 at 9:15 in Dobkin Hall
Childcare Provided

Exploring the Dual Nature of Imagination

with Robert Demko

"Imagination is not a state, it is human existence itself." William Blake

Exploring our consciousness is perhaps one of the greatest journeys we can take. But, our minds and imaginations can be both a glorious source of transformation and creativity or they can trip us up big time. This Sunday we will focus on that dual nature of imagination, the light and shadow sides of those experiences.

The link below will help us begin this exploration into the dual nature of imagination and creativity. Looking forward to being with you this Sunday at Quest.

The Power of Imagination: Embracing the Dual Nature of Creativity - Mastery in Life